JANUARY 2006

Open House!

Organization of Chinese Americans (Above Left) & DC Government Employees (Above Right) were among many people who attended OAPIA's Open House.

On Thursday, December 22, 2005, the holiday season opened its doors to residents, merchants, government workers, community based organization representatives and past volunteers for the Mayor's Office on Asian and Pacific Islander Affairs (OAPIA) annual Open House. The Open House ran concurrently with Office of Partnership and Grants, Serve DC, Boards and Commissions and Office on Veterans' Affairs open houses. The open houses were an opportunity for staffs to meet and greet with the community members and give everyone a wonderful occasion to view the different offices. All offices are located at 441 4th Street, NW near the Judiciary Square Metro Station.

Everyone enjoyed a delicious spread of authentic Asian and American cuisines prepared by OAPIA staff, paired with a wide assortment of deserts and tasty delicacies from the cooperating agencies.

Among the festivities, visitors were able to learn more about OAPIA, and the resource library containing various translated materials pertaining to all aspects of the DC community. OAPIA brochures and various publications are translated into Chinese, Korean and Vietnamese. The distribution of the 2005/2006 Asian American yearbooks from www.asianamericanyearbook.com also served as a resource and referral guide for the API community. Interest in the African American Yearbook and the Hispanic Yearbook are also available through TIYM Publishing

FYI NEWS!

JANUARY 13TH — KOREAN- AMERICAN DAY!

The United States House of Representatives recently passed a Bill designating January 13th as "Korean American Day".

On January 13, 1903, the first wave of Korean immigrants arrived in the United States.

Proponents of the Bill have lobbied for this recognition by Congress since 2003.

Director's Message

Happy New Year to Everyone!

*Greg Chen
Executive Director*

The past year has been a time of engagement, advocacy and coordination for the Asian Pacific Islander community in the District. As our residents continue to demonstrate a spirit of participation and unity, we are building a culture of mutual support, diversity and inclusiveness that strengthens our community. While this is a season when many of us reflect on our past, we also plan for the future. With a renewed vision to promote the welfare of our diverse community, our office is committed to continuing our mandated priorities, and supporting community initiatives that help API community members improve their quality of life. We look forward to working with everyone for another fruitful year! Happy New Year!

Company.

Greg Chen, Executive Director of OAPIA, excitedly commented that, "This was a great opportunity for the community to meet with our expanded staff and enjoy good food and the holiday spirit". OAPIA would like to thank everyone who came to support the event.

Mayor's Toy Drive

For six years, the Executive Office of the Mayor continued its tradition of giving toys to the underprivileged children of the city. The toys drive party was held on December 12, 2005 at the Reeves Center. Together with the Mayor and his mother, many DC government staff gathered at the event along with many friends and supporters of the city. The festive evening featured many beautiful performances by local children and youth. Many local restaurants also donated food for the event.

Hundreds of toys were contributed to benefit children from various social organizations. Among the beneficiaries are three API CBOs that serve the children in DC: Asian American LEAD, Boat People SOS and Vietnamese American Community Service Center.

Women's Heart Day

OAPIA partners with Sister to Sister: Everyone Has a Heart Foundation to Encourage D.C. Area Women to Get a Heart-Health Check

Despite strides made in awareness, the majority of American women still don't know that heart disease is the number one killer of women. The good news is that in most cases, it can be prevented by making effective lifestyle changes.

This year, the Mayor's Office on Asian and Pacific Islander Affairs (OAPIA) works with Sister to Sister: Everyone Has a Heart Foundation, Inc. in their efforts to encourage women to get a heart-health check – screenings for their cholesterol, blood pressure and blood glucose levels along with their body mass index. OAPIA will be assisting in spreading the word about this important event to the Asian and Pacific Islander community.

"Women need to be advocates for their own heart health," said Dr. Roger Blumenthal, director of the Johns Hopkins Ciccarone Center for the Prevention of Heart Disease and Sister to Sister's special medical adviser.

"It's especially critical because more women die from heart disease than men. Also, women's symptoms are sometimes quite different than they are for men," Dr. Blumenthal explained.

Sister to Sister is a national grassroots nonprofit organization dedicated to bringing free heart screenings and heart-healthy information and support to women. Sister to Sister's prevention activities culminate on the third Friday of every February on National Woman's Heart Day® with fun, interactive health fairs held in many of the largest U.S. cities.

The Washington, D.C. area health fair with free heart screenings will be held at the MCI Center, 7th and F Streets, NW, from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Friday, February 17, 2006.

Senior Holiday Gathering

Forty-five seniors from Chinatown Service Center, along with hundreds of other seniors from all over DC, attended the Mayor's Senior Holiday Party at DC Armory. Although they were too shy to dance, they had a great time, enjoying the food, the music, the festive atmosphere and each other's company.

Top DC Private Foundations Giving to Refugee & Immigrant Causes

According to the Foundation Center, in 2003 the top 50 foundations in the D.C. metro area awarding grants to immigrants and refugees based on the total dollar amount awarded were the following (by ranking):

Rank	Foundation Name	Dollar Amount	No. of Grants
11.	The Harry & Jeanette Weinberg Inc. (MD)	$2,898,000	3
22.	Public Welfare Foundation, Inc. (DC)	$1,342,500	36
24.	The Annie E. Casey Foundation (MD)	$1,244,908	21
32.	Moriah Fund (DC)	$785,000	22
35.	The Community Foundation for the National Capital Region (DC)	$637,934	24
46.	Freddie Mac Foundation (VA)	$496,000	11

For a complete listing of the ranking, please refer to the FC stats located at http://fdncenter.org/fc_stats/index.html. Other notable mentions include the Eugene and Agnes E. Meyer Foundation, the Morris and Gwendolyn Cafritz Foundation and the Jovid Foundation. The Cafritz Foundation is the largest independent grant making foundation focused exclusively in the Washington metro area. Of the three private foundations, the Meyer Foundation has been the most consistent in awarding grants to community-based organizations that serve the Asian and Pacific Islander (API) immigrant and refugee population. A research of the Meyer Foundation website reveals that since

AGENCY MISSION

The Office on Asian and Pacific Islander Affairs (OAPIA) was created in 1987 as part of Executive Office of the Mayor to address the needs of the District's Asian & Pacific Islander (API) residents. In October 2001, OAPIA became a financially independent agency. OAPIA's mission is to ensure that the full range of health, education, employment, social services and business information, programs and services is accessible to the District's API community.
